

Get creative with nature

Collect flowers, leaves and plants from nature for 8 creative activities for both children and adults.

A creative technique

Press your own flowers

Collect flowers and leaves for your creative projects. Use a flower press or a heavy book while they dry. We recommend keeping them pressed for 14 days.

Floral memories on beautiful cards

Cut white card to A6 size and glue coloured pieces of card onto it in the sizes you prefer. Gently brush your dried flowers with glue and place them on the card. Use a small piece of tape to write the name of the flower and stick it over the stem.

Glowing lanterns

Use decoupage to create beautiful lanterns with dried flowers.

Everlasting bouquet in a frame

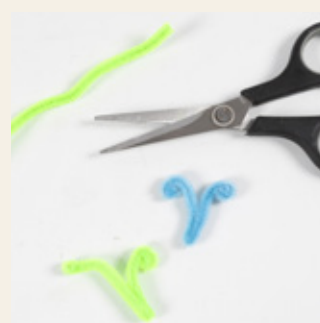

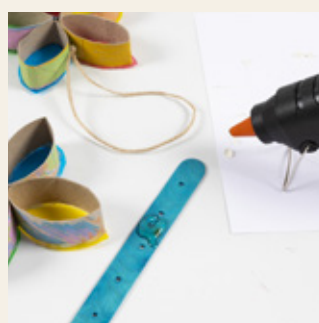

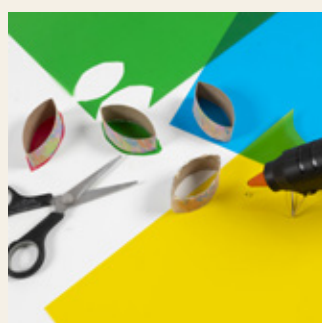

Create a personal piece of art and let the beauty of nature continue to bloom indoors.

Press the flowers. Use a small dab of clear glue to attach each flower to the glass.
Once the glue is dry, place the glass in the frame.

Sun catchers made from cardboard tubes and cellophane

Create beautiful, colourful butterflies and flowers from empty cardboard tubes. Take the butterflies out into the sunshine, hang the flowers in the window and see how the sun's rays create magical, colourful shadows.

Shadow drawing

A cosy activity in the sunshine.

Find a flower or plant and hold it up to the sun so it casts a shadow on the paper. Draw the outline of the shadow.

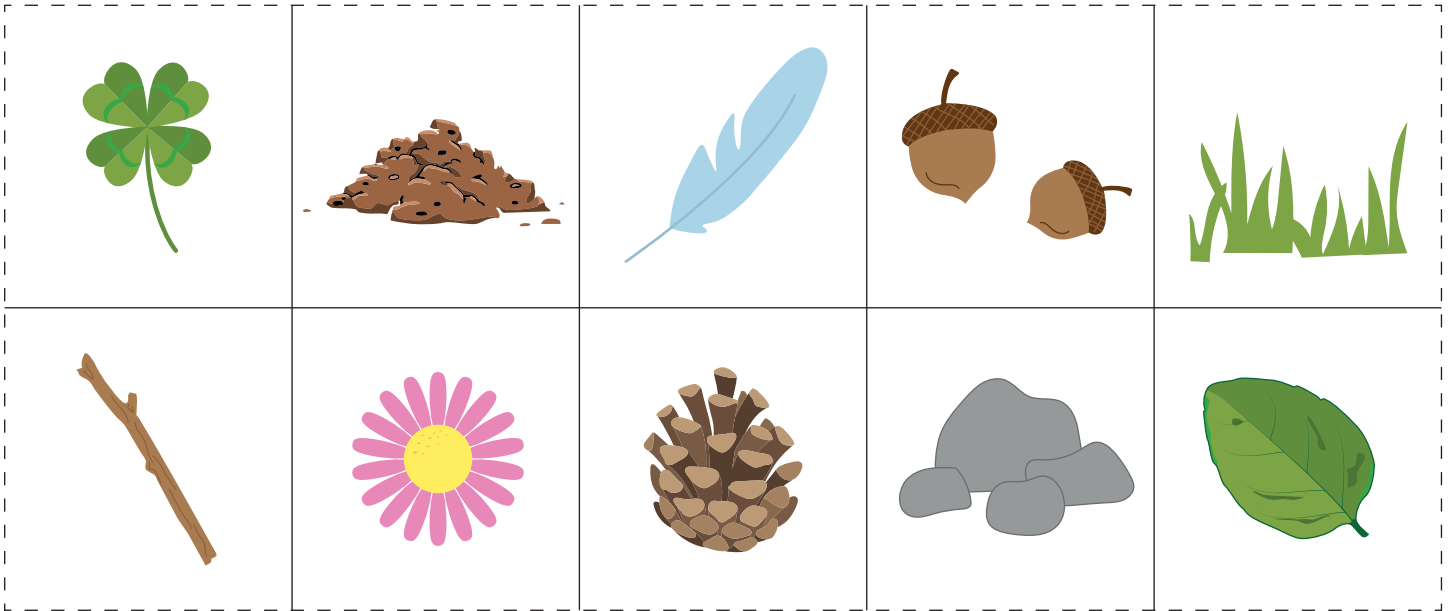

Nature bingo

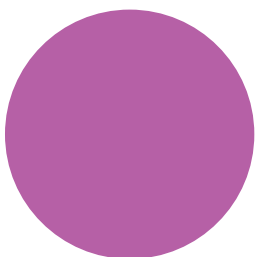

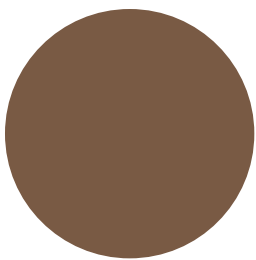

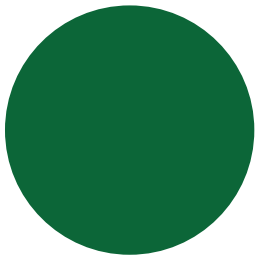

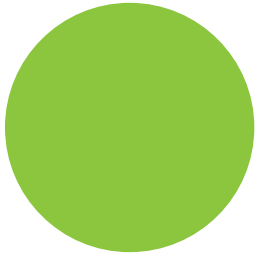

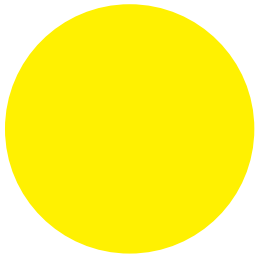

1. Glue the bingo sheet inside the lid of an empty egg box and send the children out into nature to find all the items.
2. Place double-sided tape on the spaces next to each colour and send the children on a hunt for leaves, flowers, twigs and more, which they can stick next to the matching colour.
